Elder L. H. Barnum will preach at the Roundup school house next Sunday at 3 p. m.

G. J. Southworth is building a substantial 25x25 store room addition on the rear of the Gem Drug Store.

Seventeen names have been given to Elder Barnum for the State Convention in Wichita. Room for more.

Judge D. M. Dale of Wichita has been appointed as the democratic member of the state tax commission to succeed the late Judge Humphrey.

W. G. Osborn of Mingona township has caught the building fever. His plans are not matured but he will either build an entire new farm house or add another story to the present one and otherwise enlarge it.

Our advertising columns are somewhat crowded this week. Look them over carefully and remember that the merchant who has commendable goods and prices is the one who isn't ashamed to advertise them.

There are two published reports as to Roy Stafford's fate at the Oklahoma election. Roy was the democratic candidate of his district for state senator. One report says he was elected and another says he was defeated. Here's hoping that the good report will prove true.

The first heavy freight trains will be routed over the Belen cutoff of the Santa Fe railroad October 1st, according to the latest information. Medicine Lodge is mighty unfortunate that the town is not located on the said Belen. We have the consolation of knowing, however, that the town is close to the cut-off.

Our friend, W. H. Watkins, formerly of Sharon, who published the Sharon Advocate a year and then took his printing plant to Ringwood, Ok., where he has since published the Ringwood Leader, is having rough sailing in the newspaper business. He suspended publication last week. In this country a man must learn to go on half rations if he wants to keep a newspaper going—unless, of course, he has a good place at the pie counter in connection.

Fred Finger, 16½ miles south of Alva, was here Saturday to haul out the machinery for a big Sorghum-Syrup factory, which when completed will be the largest mill of the kind in the southwest, as they expect to make 250 barrels per day. Mr. Finger has been quietly looking after this important industry for a year or more, and he says there are hundreds of acres of the finest kind of sorghum cane in his locality. Mr. Simmons, a man who has had 40 years of successful experience in handling syrup machinery, will be the manager of this factory. We will watch this enterprise with interest, wish the promoters abundant success.—Alva Pioneer.

From the Herald.

Harry Tilden has commenced to drag 'em out,' horses. If the blind stagger season has started thus early, it's going to be tough before spring for all horsemen.

While bringing the children to school Monday the tongue to the wagon in which F. J. Huitt was riding, broke off and the team took fright and ran away. Mr. Huitt got a good bump on the head, but otherwise no damage was done. John Runkle laughed at Mr. Huitt for having a tongue that would drop but it was not five minutes before the same thing happened to John, and tongue and trees hung around his team's heels. The gentleness of Mr. Runkle's team is all that saved him from a runaway.

Mrs. C. W. Wilson returned Sunday night from a two months' visit with her parents and friends in Michigan. She had a fine trip and a splendid visit.

T. M. Kidd and wife, of Medicine Lodge came down Friday of last week, to visit relatives and friends west of this city. C. W. Wilson entertained them during their stay in this city.

Ex-County Commissioner J. M. Crouse and family were in the city Monday. Mr. Crouse has many personal and political friends in this city who are always glad to meet him. He has served this district faithfully as county commissioner and his friends give him credit for the able manner in which he served them as a public official.

Wm. Waltner, youngest son of H. G. Waltner, arrived from Kansas City to take a position as salesman in the store of the H. G. Waltner Mercantile Co., in this city over winter. The young man is of splendid ancestry in the mercantile business and is not a stranger with the people doing their trading at the Waltner store.

From the Journal

Miss Ethel Perry, who has been sick for some time with typhoid fever, is improving nicely. Dr. Cloud who is attending her says he is confident that she would have had a much harder time had it not been for the fact that she was kept out doors all the time.

We noticed in the Wichita Beacon of last week that Martin Flanagan who has been for the past few years with the Gill undertaking establishment of that city, had accepted a similar position with a large undertaking firm in Pittsburg, Kas. It was only last January that he passed one of the best examiners for embalmers. We are glad to note his success in his work.

What might have proved to be a serious conflagration Sunday was fortunately noticed in time to stay much damage. In some manner fire caught in the lower rooms of Oscar Haberlein's home and was making rapid headway when parties discovered it and rushed in the house and extinguished the fire. Mr. Haberlein and family were upstairs at dinner and it is a mystery how the fire started.
